

Superintendent's Corner – Jan. 7, 2008

Welcome back. I hope you all had a fun and restful winter break. I'd especially like to know how our high school students liked NOT having to prepare for finals during the break. Send me an email to tell me if that was helpful.

As you know, BVSD students return to school on Wednesday, but school staff members return on Monday for two days of professional development. We are very committed to providing time and resources for our teachers and other staff to learn new things and develop their skills. As our Board President Helayne Jones recently said, "If our teachers are not getting professional development supporting them as lifelong learners, that hurts our students."

Let's all join together to support learning for everyone in 2008.

Happy New Year!
