

Superintendent's Honor Roll – Sept. 11, 2007

Penny Scott-Oliver, Induction Coach for BVSD, recently won a University of Colorado's "Best Should Teach" Award.

Penny indeed exemplifies that the best should teach. She has been with BVSD for more than 28 years and has impacted the classroom as a teacher, mentor and college instructor. Penny brings a strong knowledge of instructional and learning theory to her work, but has the unique ability to translate theory into practice.

In addition to her outstanding work in the classroom with students, Penny has made a tremendous impact on the district's Induction Program. She has spent untold hours mentoring first-year teachers in Boulder Valley and providing a strong, solid foundation as they begin their careers.

Penny has also served as a clinical professor and adjunct faculty member at the University of Colorado where she has taught numerous undergraduate and graduate students as they prepare for their educational careers.

Penny is described by colleague Tim Hillmer as, "...a brilliant, conscientious, and creative educator whose work ethic is second to none. When it comes to teaching, she is truly one of the best."
